As a Lifting Technician, you'll be responsible for inspecting, testing, repairing, and maintaining lifting equipment to ensure compliance with safety standards and regulations. You'll work closely with customers to provide expert advice and solutions, ensuring their lifting equipment is reliable and safe to use.

If you have rigging, engineering or hands-on experience working at heights. We want to hear from you!

IF you don't have these skills, that is no problem we'll train and teach THE RIGHT PERSON!

What we will require from you is: a keen eye for detail, a can do attitude, a team player and above all a keenness to learn. It's a physical roll to some degree, a customer facing roll and an exciting technical roll once you are trained and competent.

Join us in ensuring the safety and reliability of lifting equipment for industry is safe, whilst building a rewarding career with a Global company.
